

Intro to the course project

Situation

You have been hired by a road safety company as a data analyst and you are going to be working with an accident historical data.

Brief

Today been your first day in the office as data analyst you are asked to build an interactive Power BI dashboard to help the road safety carry out their job with ease.

- They want to see locations with high death rate
- The highest factors that contributed to accidents
- Rate of accident by time
- What day of the week was accident recorded most
